K-CAPS®

DELAYED RELEASE CAPSULES

K-CAPS® Delayed-Release Capsules contain a material that prevents them from dissolving until they reach the small intestine. In this way the capsules act as a barrier against stomach acid, safeguarding their contents from the stomach's harsh environment – without the added cost and complexity of incorporating coatings or acid-resistant properties during manufacturing.

WHAT ARE THE BENEFITS OF DELAYED-RELEASE CAPSULES?

K-CAPS® Delayed-Release Capsules offer:

- The capsules do not dissolve until they reach the small intestine.
- Shorter product development cycle and lower manufacturing costs : These capsules eliminate the need for the chemicals, phthalates, solvents or additional coatings or processes that tablets and other dosage forms require in order to delay release.
- Broad protection: In addition to safeguarding encapsulated ingredients against the effects of stomach acids, K-CAPS® Delayed-Release Capsules also safeguard against pH fluctuations, temperature variations, moisture, humidity and oxygen penetration.
- Enhanced bioavailability: By protecting ingredients from stomach acids and strategically releasing active ingredients in the intestines, K-CAPS® Delayed-Release Capsules ensure maximum absorption and effectiveness.
- Reduced nutrient competition: Because they release nutrients in a controlled manner, these capsules also reduce the possibility of the capsule's ingredients competing with other supplements and medications for absorption.

COGNITIVE OR BRAIN HEALTHSTRESS

BRAIN HEALTH & STRESS REGULATOR

MAGNESIUM

Magnesium acts as a cofactor in the synthesis and function of neurotransmitters like serotonin, dopamine, and GABA, which are crucial for mood, focus, and relaxation.

Hormonal Balance: Stress triggers the release of stress hormones like cortisol. Magnesium plays a crucial role in regulating the hormonal response to stress, helping to maintain hormonal balance and prevent excessive cortisol release.

Improved Sleep Quality: Sleep deprivation exacerbates stress, and stress disrupts sleep. Magnesium's calming effects on the nervous system contribute to improved sleep quality, helping break the vicious cycle of stress and sleeplessness.

VITAMIN D

A 2022 study highlighted that individuals with higher levels of vitamin D in their brains had better cognitive function, reinforcing the link between vitamin D and brain health.

VITAMIN (B1, B6, B12)

Providing energy for neuronal functions, ensures proper nerve conduction and cognitive function.

NERVE HEALTH

★ VITAMIN D

Vitamin D enhances the production of NERVE GROWTH FACTOR (NGF), essential for the development and maintenance of neurons.

Neurotransmitter Synthesis: It contributes to the synthesis of important neurotransmitters such as serotonin, dopamine, and norepinephrine. These neurotransmitters are essential for mood regulation and cognitive function.

★ VITAMIN (B1, B6, B12)

Production and maintenance of the myelin sheath, which insulates nerve fibers and facilitates rapid signal conduction and nerve communication

★ MAGNESIUM

Magnesium's effects on arteries are multifaceted. It interacts with calcium channels, influencing muscle tone in blood vessel walls. Its anti-inflammatory properties help combat the underlying processes that contribute to arterial damage.

MAGNESIUM + TRACE MINERALS

STABILIZE CELL MEMBRANE AND FLUIDITY

Magnesium, along with essential trace minerals like zinc, selenium, and manganese, plays a vital role in maintaining the structural integrity and flexibility of cell membranes.

These minerals help ensure that cell membranes remain soft, elastic, and selectively permeable—qualities that are essential for the healthy transport of nutrients into cells and the removal of waste products.

A stable and fluid membrane environment also supports efficient signal transmission between cells, enabling the body to respond quickly and accurately to internal and external stimuli. This balance is crucial for optimal cellular communication, energy production, and overall metabolic health.

In short, magnesium and trace minerals help your cells function at their best—supporting everything from hydration and immunity to focus and vitality.

STEM CELL RENEWAL

NICOTINAMIDE MONONUCLEOTIDE (NMN) + TRANS-RESVERATROL

UNLOCK CELLULAR RENEWAL AND LONGEVITY

A 2022 study published in International Journal of Molecular Science found that NMN supplementation restored mitochondrial function and reduced cellular aging in mesenchymal stem cells (MSCs). It did this by increasing NAD levels and activating SIRT1, a key longevity protein, effectively rescuing senescent MSCs.

Supplementation with NMN has been shown to enhance the self-renewal capacity of mesenchymal stem cells (MSCs), which are essential for this repair, regeneration, and immune modulation.

When paired with trans-resveratrol-a potent antioxidant known to activate the longevity-related SIRT1 pathway-this combination supports cellular energy production, combat oxidative stress, promote healthy aging at the cellular level.

DIABETES, CARDIOVASCULAR & KIDNEY

DIABETES

LINKED TO DEFICIENCIES IN KEY MINERALS

People with diabetes often exhibit deficiencies in essential minerals such as magnesium, zinc, chromium, selenium, and iron—all of which play critical roles in blood sugar regulation, insulin sensitivity, antioxidant defense, and energy metabolism.

Low levels of these minerals may impair glucose uptake, increase oxidative stress, and worsen insulin resistance, making proper mineral balance vital for managing and potentially preventing diabetic complications.

CARDIOVASCULAR AND KIDNEY PROBLEMS

Imbalanced calcium-to-magnesium and vitamin D-to-K ratios can cause calcium to build up in arteries and kidneys rather than bones, compromising heart and kidney health. Balancing these nutrients is crucial for cardiovascular and renal function.
